System Requirements

- PHP v4.3 or higher on Unix compatible system.
- MySQL DB version 3.23 or newer
- Ability to run Unix shell commands from PHP. PHP 'safe_mode' is NOT compatible with this script.
- Ability to run cron jobs

If you would like us to install the script for you please send payment of $25 via paypal to admin@wpmanagerdx.com.

Once you make payment provide us with your cpanel/ftp login details – your information is kept confidential.

FTP Installation

(These steps work on most servers)

Here are the simple steps for installing the script:

1. Thru your Cpanel (or Webhost's Control Panel), setup MYSQL database first. You will need to write down Database Name, Username and Password.

Open config.php and enter your DB information:

```
<?php
$db_host = "localhost";
$db_name = "user_dbname";
$db_username = "user_dbuser";
$db_pass = "dbpassword";
?>

2. Upload all the files to the server (you may create a new directory on your server if you wish and then upload all the files to that directory).

CHMOD to 777 (set permissions) the following directories:

/export
/tmp

3. Run new_install.php in your browser. It would look something like this:

http://yourdomain.com/amdx/new\_install.php

It will display a system compatibility report and have an Install Now button at the end. Check that everything is correct and hit the Install Now button.

Please note: DELETE file above after you are done.

Also Before you can access your admin area, you will need to Register the script by filling-out some information. Once you do that it will take you to a your admin area login page and you also receive the information via email.

4. The default login info for admin area (ie. <http://yourdomain.com/admdx/>):

username: admin
password: admin

5. Setting up Cron Job

To use auto-posting (Save & Cron in Submit Articles section) articles feature you need to add the following line to your Unix "crontab" (periodic job execution facility) - it would run every minute and send out articles as well:

/ * * * * lynx -dump 'http://www.yourdomain.com/pathto/cron.php' >/dev/null

Usually you can do that using your hosting web control panel, or Unix shell and 'crontab -e' command. If you don't know how, and this is not done at setup time, please consult your web hosting support personnel.

In case of Cpanel, click on Cron Jobs, than click on Advanced, enter 1 for Minute, * for Hour, Day, Month & Weekday, and enter:

lynx -dump 'http://www.yourdomain.com/pathto/cron.php' >/dev/null

for command.

If your host doesn't have lynx installed, you may use php command line utility as well, for example:

cd D:/Apache Group/Apache2/htdocs/ArticleManagerDX/settings.php && php cron.php >/dev/null

or:

cd D:/Apache Group/Apache2/htdocs/ArticleManagerDX/settings.php &&
/usr/local/bin/php cron.php >/dev/null
